

XM radio has provided me with a wonderful variety of music. I live in a small town and unfortunately do not get a large variety of music. I pay for this service gladly because it gives me something to listen to. I am no longer forced to endure long hours of country music, which I hate. I have become accustomed to this music and if taken away would be very upset. Xm's customer base has grown also, after friends saw my radio several went out and purchased one of their own. The National Association of Broadcasters has no say of what I can listen to.
